Subject: Resolution Approving Qualified Target Industry Tax Refund for Confidential Project Hammerhead

Recommendation

The Beacon Council, on behalf of a firm requesting confidentiality, has submitted an application for economic development incentives from the State of Florida (State) and Miami-Dade County that require approval from the Board of County Commissioners (Board). It is recommended that the Board approve the attached resolution authorizing Confidential Project Hammerhead to be recognized by the State as a Qualified Target Industry (QTI) business and entitled to the financial benefits afforded under the Qualified Target Industry Tax Refund Program.

Scope

The business operations of this project will create 60 new full-time equivalent jobs, as defined in Florida Statute Section 288.106, over a three-year period. This project is considering leasing and building out approximately 23,000 square feet of an existing building to establish its national headquarters and house its production and development teams. The company is still seeking a suitable location.

Fiscal Impact / Funding Source

Confidential Project Hammerhead has applied for a total of $153,000.00 in Qualified Target Industry tax refunds over a six-year period, of which 80 percent ($122,400.00) would be provided by the State and 20 percent ($30,600.00) will be the local match provided by Miami-Dade County. If the accompanying resolution is approved by the Board, the County is committed to providing an award of no greater than $30,600.00 (or $510.00 per new job) in matching funds from countywide general fund revenues over a six-year period beginning in FY 2015-2016. An analysis from the Beacon Council suggests a positive fiscal cost-benefit ratio to the County of 1:1.22. The projected countywide tax revenues over the six-year period of the incentives would exceed the County's local match by $6,607.00. Generating sufficient countywide general fund revenue to cover the County's local match for the award, however, is not a condition of the Qualified Target Industry Tax Refund Program. The County's 20 percent local match is required when the State determines that Confidential Project Hammerhead has created 60 new jobs and met the average salary threshold required in the State's tax refund agreement according to the schedule set forth in the Project Overview and the attached resolution. The disbursement schedule and the anticipated dates for job creation are subject to change at the discretion of the Florida Department of Economic Opportunity.

Track Record/Monitor

Qualified Target Industry funds awarded for job creation are provided on a matching basis upon the State invoicing the County for its 20 percent of the financial commitment for jobs created and verified by the State. The incentive amount is determined by the new jobs created and their annual salary. The State is responsible for verifying compliance with the terms of the award. The County's matching funds are distributed only if the applicant complies with the commitment to create the number of new jobs indicated in the accompanying Qualified Target Industry application (see Attachment to the General Project Overview) and all other conditions of the incentive program. Qualified Target Industry incentive payments are contingent upon the company meeting its target jobs. County staff requires access to the company's real estate and tangible personal property filings during the incentive period to monitor the fiscal impact to the general fund from the Qualified Target Industry tax refund program.

The application from the confidential project states that the company's senior management team and board members are currently involved in civil lawsuits filed by shareholders from previous companies. In 2012, a purported securities class action case was filed in federal court in California, and some of the company's current and former directors, officers, and executives, including the new Miami-Dade company's CEO and Director. Additional purported securities class actions containing similar allegations were consolidated in the case mentioned above. In 2013, the lead plaintiff and another named plaintiff filed a consolidated complaint. The consolidated complaint alleges that the defendants violated the federal securities laws by issuing false or misleading statements regarding the company's business and financial projections. The plaintiffs seek to represent a class of persons who purchased or otherwise acquired the company's securities between end of 2011 and mid-2012. The defendants filed motions to dismiss this lawsuit in 2013, and briefing on the motions was completed in 2013. The court has not yet ruled on these motions. Related litigation is also pending in state and federal courts in California, including a purported securities class action case that is pending in Superior Court and derivative lawsuits, purportedly brought on behalf of the company, against some of its current and former directors and executive officers that are pending in state and federal court. Proceedings in each of these actions have been stayed pending a ruling in the federal securities class action. A related lawsuit is also pending in federal court in Delaware. In 2013, the defendants filed a motion to dismiss this lawsuit. Briefing on this motion was completed in 2013. The court has not yet scheduled a hearing or issued a ruling on the motion. The company has stated in its filings with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") that it believes it has meritorious defenses in the securities class actions and will vigorously defend the actions. The Company has also stated that it believes that the plaintiffs in the derivative actions lack standing to pursue litigation on behalf of the company.

It is important to note that for technology companies, shareholder security lawsuits are not uncommon. In recent years, Facebook, Google, Amazon, Apple, Microsoft, Netflix, Groupon and others are involved or have been involved in class action securities lawsuits. In the case of Project Hammerhead, the lawsuit was filed against the previous company's board of directors as well as the company's top executives, of which Hammerhead's CEO and Director were a part.

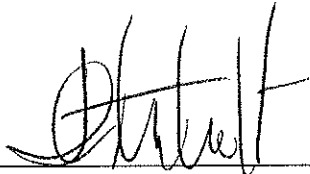

Background

Confidential Project Hammerhead is a digital gaming company that has established its headquarters office in Miami-Dade County and is looking for a location for their studios in which to house their production and development teams. The company is also considering Silicon Valley, Los Angeles, Dallas, Detroit and Vancouver for their potential location.

Confidential Project Hammerhead would be an expanding digital free-to-play gaming company seeking a facility to combine their software programming services, custom computer and their corporate managing office (NAICS Codes #55114 and #541511) in Miami-Dade County. It would employ 60 new workers paying an average annual salary of $52,000.00, which represents over 115% of the State average wage. Employee benefits associated with each new job created will be $30,000.00, according to the documents submitted by The Beacon Council. The value of employer provided benefits, however, are not a requirement of the tax refund agreement with the State, or County's local match.

The company states in its application that if the incentive is approved it will make a capital investment of $2,350,000.00 of which $650,000.00 is allocated to the build out of leased space (construction renovations), and $1,700,000.00 of tangible personal property, including but not limited to computer equipment and office furniture.

The Beacon Council projects that the $2,350,000.00 in direct investment by Confidential Project Hammerhead will generate approximately $6,607.00 in countywide net revenue benefit to Miami-Dade County over the six years the company is eligible for Qualified Target Industry tax refund incentives. Generating additional countywide general fund revenue, however, is not a condition of the Qualified Target Industry program. Project details are summarized in the attached chart.

Florida Qualified Target Industry Tax Refund (QTI)

Confidential Project: Hammerhead

November 12, 2013

Prepared by the Beacon Council

Executive Summary for Confidential Project: Hammerhead

Background

Project Hammerhead is a video game company with headquarters in Miami-Dade County that is looking for a location to establish their studios for their production and development teams. The company is currently evaluating Miami-Dade County and other locations such as Silicon Valley, Los Angeles and Dallas.

The project will create 60 direct new jobs with an average annualized salary of $52,000 in Miami-Dade County over a 3-year period and make a new capital investment of $2,350,000. The average salary of $52,000 represents over 115% of the State average wage.

The application of Confidential Project: Hammerhead for a QTI recognizes the creation of new, high-paying jobs and the capital investment being committed by the project over the 6-year payout period. The enclosed QTI application package requests a maximum of $30,600 (20% of total incentive) to be paid by the County over a period of six years and provides a positive cost-benefit ratio to the County of 1:1.22.

This is a performance-based incentive. No funds will be provided to the Company until they meet all program and job creation requirements. The incentive that is provided is not a cash grant; it is an after-the-fact, performance-based refund.

General Funds derived from the incremental tax revenue will be used to fund the county contribution. CDBG Funds will not be used.

Basic Assumptions

- The latest Miami-Dade County millage tax rates (2013) were used.
- This latest millage rate was used for the entire 6-year period analysis.

Conclusions

Based on the projected investment of $2,350,000 in new real property, the project's 6-year property tax revenue from this expenditure will be: $37,207 and Miami-Dade County's net revenue benefit is: $6,607.

5. COMPETITIVE LANDSCAPE

- A. What role will the incentive(s) play in the Applicant's decision to locate the Project in Florida (e.g., important, critical, etc.)?

The incentives are critical in deciding where to locate the company's development studios. The idea is to have the best teams in the world creating the best free-to-play games in the world. Video games can be developed anywhere, with some of today's top games coming from as far away as Finland and Russia.

While the company's headquarters will be in Miami, the majority of the staff will be located at their development studios, where readily available talent is accessible.

- B. What other states or countries is the Applicant considering for this Project?

Silicon Valley (San Francisco, Menlo Park), Los Angeles, Louisiana, Dallas, Detroit, Vancouver, B.C.

- C. What advantages or incentives offered by these locations does the Applicant consider important in its decision?

Key factors in selecting the location of the company's studios include: incentives for the video game industry, experienced workforce/access to talent, technology community size, and access to capital.

Louisiana, Detroit, Dallas, and Vancouver all offer substantial ongoing incentives to video gaming companies. Silicon Valley, Los Angeles, Dallas, and Vancouver have robust technology communities with large, experienced workforces making it much easier to find and recruit talent. Silicon Valley has a very strong venture capital community making it very easy to gain access to capital for growth and liquidity.

The company's executives have lived and worked in Vancouver, Seattle, and Silicon Valley. They have access to a large network of developers, executives, and business associates in all of these locations.

- D. What advantages or disadvantages offered by the proposed Florida location does the Applicant consider important in its decision?

The company chose Miami as their corporate headquarters because it is a great place to live and raise a family; it has a low cost of living with affordable housing, warm weather year-round, and offers a high quality of life. A key advantage for the company's studios to be located in Miami is proximity to the corporate headquarters. Having the studios located alongside the corporate headquarters lessens travel and eases the management burden.

However, the limited technology industry (and workforce) in Miami not only makes it difficult to staff teams up quickly, it also makes it difficult to recruit people to join a Miami-based technology company. Video games can be created anywhere so prospective employees can, literally, choose anywhere to live and pursue their career goals. Employees are much more comfortable relocating to an area that has multiple job opportunities for them – aside from the company they are joining – both for added stability and career growth.

- E. Indicate any additional internal or external competitive issues impacting your decision regarding the Project's location?

It is much easier to create, fund, and grow a company in one of the more established gaming locations (Silicon Valley, Los Angeles, Vancouver) than in Florida.

However, the company would like to partner with the city and community to help establish Miami as a technology hub for video game development and publishing, just as its founders have done in other communities.
